

SEMINAR FOR VHM 881

The seminar is scheduled for December 1, 2004, at 3:30pm (AVC Faculty Lounge).

- Title: Examples of the use of simulation techniques for analysis of generalised, linear and mixed models.
- Audience: The seminar is open for everybody interested, and will be announced to the supervisory committee and by the Health Management e-mail distribution list.
- Duration: approximately 30 min., followed by questions from the audience.
- Content: The presentation should primarily be based on the work and readings of the course. The essentials of the statistical models and procedures used should be explained, whereas technical details may be omitted.
